

The Karateka of the International Karate Do Joshinmon Kai Shorin Ryu Federation According to Felix Puga Hanshi

By Julio Cesar Gonzalez Webmaster © 2018
English version by Vinicius Gonzalez Nobrega

The Karateka from our International Federation of Karate Do Kai Shorin Ryu Joshinmon is renowned for their extreme sense of responsibility towards themselves. They are never to be selfish. Our Karateka generally don't rationalize weak behavior. In that regard, they are quite different from most ordinary people.

These warriors have an uncanny ability to be creative at all times of their lives. They are authentic. They like almost everything about life and human nature. They enjoy the peace and harmony of nature and never spend a single moment of their lives complaining about anything or wishing that their lives were any different. They accept life as it is. With their intrinsic enthusiasm for life, they walk their path while avoiding unnecessary strife.

They love their lives in a peculiar way that allows them to always get the most out of the infinite human potential. They are proactive and creative beings, driven by dynamic thoughts and ideas that allow highly effective responses according to each situation that comes their way. They live in a real and true present; they are immune against any attempt to weaken their minds. Their thinking shows a sharp free this conscientiousness of guilt of the past or future concerns. This ability to live for today makes them highly effective warriors.

They are highly successful in their lives and they give their best at all times. They strive to be humble people and that is why they always receive much from others. Therefore, they are always winners. As stated by the Grand Master Hoshu Ikeda, they always try to restore peace and harmony of nature to connect their own nature to the harmony of the universe.

As these warriors live for the present, they constitute a formidable force against all the evil that can jeopardize their peace or that of their fellows. They are active vanguards of peace and harmony - you will never see them partake in any kind of abuse towards others. They abide by healthy and humane principles. They are the kind of people that everyone would like to have very closely.

They are independent warriors. As they chose independence, they are quite capable of acting in human environments of cooperation and assistance. However, they do not seek anyone's approval - their spirit is free.

